

MONTANA IA DISASTER FUND FLOW CHART

The basic premise behind each of the following examples relies on the fact the IA Disaster Fund is a last resort with respect to the resources available to handle individual needs. Depending on the situation, there are programs that must be accessed first by individuals before they can take advantage of the IA Disaster Fund. In any event, the individual must be referred to the IA Disaster Fund by a recognized voluntary organization or the unmet needs committee formed for that specific disaster event.
